Department	Tate Britain, Curatorial
Contract	Fixed Term, 12 months
Salary	£31,527 per annum
Hours	Full-time, 36 hours per week
Location	Tate Britain, Millbank, London
Reporting to	Curator of British Art 1850-1915

Background

Tate's vision is to serve as artistically adventurous and culturally inclusive art museums for the UK and the world. We deliver this through activities in our four galleries across the UK (Tate Liverpool, Tate St Ives, Tate Britain and Tate Modern), our digital platforms and collaborations with our national and international partners. At the heart of Tate is our collection of art, which includes the national collection of British art from the 16th century to the present day, and international modern and contemporary art from 1900 to the present day, spanning all continents. We seek to expand access to the collection and deepen understanding of art in all its diversity.

Tate is a leading global institution, and we influence critical thinking about art practice. Tate is committed to maintaining free entry for audiences to our collections. We see access to art for everyone as a universal human right and we see our galleries as sites of creative learning. We want to champion the importance of making art and encourage people to explore the many ways in which art is created and develop their own creative potential.

We want to welcome audiences that better reflect the towns and cities in our nation and attract a diverse international public. Our reach is already powerful. We intend to increase its impact across society, with art that resonates around the world.

Everyone who works at Tate has a role to play in achieving these goals. We offer exciting work built around our love for art, and have a strong commitment to equality, diversity and inclusion, with the aim to have our workforce and audience as diverse as the communities we serve. And everything we do is only possible thanks to our fantastic colleagues, who really know their stuff, support each other and want to do the best for our audiences.

We hope you will consider joining our team.

You can find further information about Tate on our website: www.tate.org.uk.

About the role

The role has a focus on British Art from 1850-1915. You will support the curatorial team in researching, planning, administering and delivering the exhibition, James MacNeill Whistler and collection displays and acquisitions of nineteenth century British art. You will assist with editing and writing catalogue texts and interpretation, developing a deeper understanding of museum practices.

The ideal candidate will bring strong research and organisational skills, a passion for nineteenth-century British art, and a commitment to contributing to the diversification of British art histories. You will be able to multi-task, meet deadlines and pay close attention to detail. Experience working with collections or exhibitions is desirable.

We welcome candidates who can bring new and under-represented perspectives to our work, and who will enjoy helping us to expand understanding of historic art.

You will work in alignment with Tate's priorities and our staff values (to be open, bold, rigorous and kind).

About your team

Tate Britain aims to increase public awareness, understanding and enjoyment of British art from the 16th century to the present day.

Tate Britain's Curatorial team is responsible for researching and delivering exhibitions and displays, for researching, building and advocating for Tate's Collection of British Art. The Curatorial Department is divided into three teams of curators with period expertise (Historic, Modern and Contemporary), together with a Programme Management team. You will be part of the Historic British Art team, working alongside the Senior Curator, three Curators, three other Assistant Curators and occasional temporary colleagues.

What you will gain

Motivated, skilled people are key to our continued success. We want everyone at Tate to have the opportunity to develop and thrive. In this team you will be encouraged to contribute ideas, realise your potential, learn new skills, expand your professional network and develop your knowledge.

What you will do (Main Duties and Responsibilities)

Exhibitions and Displays

- Contribute to the planning and delivery of exhibitions and displays in the time period 1850-1915
- Support the curation of the exhibition James McNeill Whistler at Tate Britain, London and forthcoming tour to Van Gogh Museum, Amsterdam
- Manage loan correspondence, project records (e.g. TMS database) and filing

- Liaise with lenders, registrars and conservators to meet display requirements
- Process invoices, monitor the budget and contribute to budget planning
- Support the project leader in cross-team communication and project management
- Liaise with the installation team and build contractors, providing detailed layouts and display case / build requirements
- Liaise with other teams across Tate including Press, Publishing, Visitor Experience and Security
- Contribute to interpretation and publications
- Contribute to events, talks and tours, as required, sometimes out-of-hours

What you will bring to the team

- Demonstrable knowledge of one or more aspects of British art of the period 1850-1915
- Research skills, experience and curiosity; awareness of new directions in art historical research around this period
- Curatorial experience, ideally gained from working with a collection
- Experience of working on loan exhibitions and on changing displays
- Proven track record of collaborative and team-based working, with a commitment to applying principles of equality, diversity and respect for all in the workplace
- Highly organised approach to work, with demonstrable ability to work under pressure and to deadlines
- Excellent writing skills and presentation skills
- Computer literacy – ability to use standard Microsoft computer programmes (e.g. Word, Excel, Outlook), and other programmes, including the collections database (training on specific applications used at Tate, such as TMS database, will be provided)
- Interest in and commitment to the work of Tate

The requirements listed here are guidelines, not hard and fast rules. You don't have to satisfy every requirement and we welcome candidates who bring transferable skills. Applying gives you the opportunity to be considered.

Tate for all

Diversity and Inclusion

Our jobs are like our galleries, open to all.

Our aim is to become a truly inclusive organisation with a workforce and audience as diverse as the communities we serve. This is fundamental to Tate's future success and our ability to continue to contribute to culture and society in the UK.

We want our workforce to be more representative of all sections of society at all levels in the organisation. The range of perspectives and experience diversity brings is an asset to our organisation and we want to create an inclusive, welcoming environment for visitors, artists and all those who work at Tate. Tate expects all employees to contribute to this aim as part of their role. More information about diversity and inclusion at Tate can be found on our website.

Our Values

- Open: we're welcoming, generous-spirited and inquisitive, with an open-source attitude that thrives on collaboration.
- Bold: we have the courage of our convictions, we're willing to take imaginative risks: we aren't afraid of failure - so long as we learn from it.
- Rigorous: we'll win people's trust if we're accountable for our actions and excellence underpins everything we do.
- Kind: we value and respect each other, our partners, and our visitors, striving to make every encounter memorable and enriching.
